Both the folly of the friends en coming to Chicago there. The conference understanding that the friends of Harrison and Gresham should be cattle each other, that both sides should do the best they could for their men in the friendliest spirit, and that the Indiana delegates should vote solidly from start to finish. When it should become evident in the convention that Harrison could not be nominated then Gresham should be accorded the support of his native state. The time when the delegates should in such contingency begin voting for Gresham was left to the honor of the delegates themselves. Mr Fairbanks, a strong supporter of Gresham, says there is the friendliest feeling between the old friends of Blaine and the supporters of Gresham, and that Gresham's greatest [illegible] those who always voted for Blaine.

Colonel Ingersoll is to make a speech for Gresham, but not in the convention. Before the time comes for the nomination of candidates there will undoubtedly be one or more open mass meetings. It is at one of these huge gatherings that Ingersoll is to make the greatest effort of his life. The honor of seconding the nomination of Gresham will go to John R. Lynch (colored), the Mississippi member of the republican national committee.

What was regarded as a bomb in the Gresham camp was a declaration for Blaine coming from W. E. Kent, of Chicago, one of the first delegates in Illinois that was instructed for Gresham. Kent represents the Second district, where two-thirds of the voters are Irish-Americans. He is quoted as saying: "I shall have lots of company and the 44 delegates from Illinois if they are needed. I have made up my mind to disregard the instructions and vote for Blaine, because there is going to be a deadlock and then a break for Blaine, and republicans in my district are solid for him. Gresham managers claim to have assurances that Kent will vote as instructed. Harrison's friends have secured Mr. John Swift of the California delegation to second his nomination. They hope to thus prove to the convention that Harrison is not unpopular on the slope.

Convention Organization.

CHICAGO, June 14.—The first real work of the convention was done yesterday evening when it was definitely announced at the different headquarters [illegible] that Warner Miller was to be made temporary chairman of the convention, also that Chauncy I. Filley, of Missouri, would probably be made permanent chairman. Filley is to be backed for the permanent chairmanship by Sherman men, Alger men and such unattached quantities as Powell Clayton, Church Howe and others. The Missouri delegation, twenty-two strong is coming to Chicago without a candidate, and this fact will doubtless tend to increase Mr. Filley's strength for the chairmanship with the different managers.

Filley is supposed to be a Sherman man. When the question was put him he said: My sympathies are with Sherman, certainly, more than with any other candidate, but I can only define my position by saying that I conceive it the duty of the republicans in the southern states to let the men who will have to elect the president nominate him. Of course we have our preferences, but I take it that it is the republican states which should name the men. We are here to advise and assist in the nominating, not to take the lead in doing the work. If the convention will name a western man and give us a platform which will meet the views of eastern members of the party every Missourian and I believe every southern republican will be thoroughly satisfied.

Nebraska's Choice.

CHICAGO, June 14.—Patrick Egan, ex-president of the Irish National League and delegate at large from Nebraska, arrived to-day. He says that of the ten members of the Nebraska delegation seven are for Blaine, one for Alger and one each for Gresham and Sherman. He says: "Should no choice be reached after a few ballots I should not be surprised if Blaine was then nominated." Speaking of Ford's statement in connection with Blaine and Irish-American votes, he said. "Of what is called Irish votes, to the number of about 70,000 in the state of New York, the greater part was given to the republican ticket because it represented the protection of American industry. Blaine would undoubtedly get votes that no other candidate would draw. However, any republican candidate on a protection platform will poll a large Irish vote. They will not support free trade."

SHERMAN'S CAMPAIGN.

The Sherman headquarters were formally opened to-day with a lavish display of bunting and a continuous procession of visitors. Among them was W. T. Brownlow, member of the national committee of Tennessee. He said: "Sherman will start in with a far greater vote than any other candidate. The Blaine sentiment is mostly among men with axes to grind." Foraker says Sherman will be the candidate and will be elected.

A WORD FOR INGALLS.

The arrival of ex-Senator Kellogg and ex-Governor Warmouth of Louisiana has given rise to rumors of accession to the boom of Senator Ingalls of Kansas. Mr. Kellogg was seen this evening. He said. The south has no intention of forcing a presidential boom, but we have the best of feelings for Ingalls and can say that from Louisiana he will receive at least three votes. Louisiana feels kindly toward Ingalls for his noble attack on democratic political tactics as they are carried out in our section.

MRS LOGAN IN THE CANVASS.

Mrs. John A. Logan has entered the canvass for Governor Alger, with her old-time energy spiced with a tinge of bitterness toward the other candidates. This new element is likely to create a good deal of bitterness, and it has already spread consternation in more than one delegation. Mrs. Logan on arriving Emperor Frederick Growing Weaker.

POTSDAM, June 14.—Nourishment was repeatedly administered to the emperor last night. He gained some strength, but there is a steady decline in the vital forces which no artificial supply of food is unable to arrest. The temporary rallies are brief and delusive, and medical experts are inclined to the opinion that the emperor will gradually die of exhaustion. The empress is constant in her attendance at the bedside of the emperor. At 10 o'clock this morning a bulletin was issued stating that the emperor was much worse and his strength gradually failing.

POTSDAM, June 14.—The crown prince and crown princess and Prince Henry have arrived at the castle. Empress Victoria has watched by the bedside of the emperor since four o'clock this morning. All the members of the imperial family have been summoned to the bedside.

LONDON, June 14, 2.30 p. m.—A dispatch just received in Berlin says: The lungs of the emperor have become inflamed and the end is approaching.

LONDON, 3 p. m., June 14.—A dispatch from Berlin says: The emperor has a strong fever and his breathing is labored. Sir Edward Malet, British ambassador, and Dr. Friedberg, minister of justice, have reached Friedrichskron palace, and other ministers and members of the royal family not already there are hastening to the palace. A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co. says lockjaw has set in.

POTSDAM, 4.30 p. m. The worst symptoms have set in in the case of the emperor. His strength is visibly waning, and he shows less interest than heretofore in what is going on about him.

The North German Gazette in its issue this afternoon says, referring to the critical condition of the emperor: "We must expect an imminent catastrophe."

POTSDAM, June 14, 11.00 p. m.—When lying down the emperor is apathetic at other times he is fully conscious. Early this afternoon, while reclining in an armchair, he wrote a few farewell words to Prince Bismarck. Afterwards he took a trip of fooil. It is thought that a little cocoaine is being administered. The doctors believe the death agony will come soon after midnight. Dowager Empress Augusta and the grand duchess of Baden will arrive to-morrow.

BERLIN, June 14.—The people of Berlin did not realize the extreme gravity of the emperor's condition till the appearance of morning extras containing the morning bulletin. The concern was universal and intense. The anxiety increased as successive extras announced the approach of the last agony. Until long after nightfall crowds gathered in front of the official residence in Wilhelm strasse, being especially watchful at the chancellor's residence. Early in the forenoon Count von Schellendorf visited Prince Bismarck, and the two started for Potsdam, where they remained two hours, returning to the chancellor's together. Several ministers visited Prince Bismarck in the evening, and an informal council was held. Prince Bismarck had a long conference with the crown prince at Potsdam after seeing the emperor.

BERLIN, June 15, 1.20 a. m.—The emperor is weaker, but perfectly conscious and mindful of the doings around him. The court officials remain in the palace during the night. It is expected the night will pass quietly. The empress is still at the emperor's bedside.

Sheridan's Condition.

WASHINGTON, June 14, 9.30 a. m.—General Sheridan passed a very quiet and comfortable night, resting well and coughing but little. The pulse continues good and respiration regular. No unfavorable symptoms have appeared.

Pacific Slopers in Denver.

DENVER, June 14.—That portion of the Pacific coast delegation to the Chicago convention consisting of California, Oregon and Nevada arrived in this city at 6 this morning over the P. U. Most of the delegates and visitors are accompanied by their wives. The party consists of 160 people, and the train is composed of seven sleepers, dining, commissary and baggage cars, and is without doubt the finest equipped train that ever crossed the continent. On their arrival the delegations were met by members of the Union club and a committee of citizens. They will resume their journey east at 8 this evening. The three delegations held a meeting yesterday afternoon, at which Hon. C. Haymond was chosen chairman, and a resolution was unanimously adopted favoring Mr. Blaine for first place on the national ticket.

Geo E. De Golia, secretary of the California delegation, in conversation upon the political situation said: The Pacific coast is a unit for Blaine. We want no other man and will have none other unless it is impossible to prevail upon him to accept the nomination. We have thought of no other man and have no second choice, nor have we yet given the second place on the ticket any consideration.

Colonel Charles F. Crocker expressed the same idea as to the choice of the people in the west, and added: "While we are all for Blaine, we do not desire to have the people understand we will cast our vote solid for him on the first ballot. If Blaine will not accept we will consult with our friends in Indiana, New York and other states and will then support the candidate who will have the greatest influence in carrying the doubtful states. We have not yet thought of a vice president, and will give no attention to this until we have determined upon a man to fill the first place. We have only one thing to ask of the convention. We will present the name of M. M. Estee of Napa for temporary chairman, and would like to see him unanimously elected."

Hon M. D. Foley, chairman of the Nevada delegation and member of the national committee, said: We want Blaine but if we can't get him we will support the next best man. But before we [illegible] any preferences we will wait to see what Colorado wants. Our interests are identical. We are for silver, and [illegible] would like to see all the delegates between the Missouri river and the Pacific coast a unit in favor of these three objects, and intend to use all my efforts to secure this result. As to the ticket nominated at St. Louis, I think it the best the democrats could put up. Thurman has always been a great favorite with us, and I think he will be the means of securing more votes for the party than any other democrat in the country. My honest conviction is that the head of the democratic ticket is at the tail."

T. B. Borin, chairman of the Oregon delegation, had nothing to say except that they were all for Blaine. The party express themselves as having had a most delightful trip, and expect to reach Chicago some time on Saturday.

It was about 9.30 this morning when the delegations and their friends finished breakfast and assembled on the depot platform at the request of the local reception committee who were on hand with carriages to take the guests over the city. When all were embarked the procession was quite an imposing one, including in the neighborhood of fifty carriages, and composed of at least 150 people. Some had been in Denver before and did not join in the parade, but drove to some special point in which they were interested. A sufficient number remained, however, to make the procession several blocks in length.

A couple of hours was spent in the drive, which included the principal business and residence streets, the court house, high school building, the new Denver club building, the opera house, Tabor, Barth and Barclay blocks and other handsome buildings and residences.

The formal reception at the chamber of commerce was given up on account of the lack of time for preparation, and because of the fatigue of the excursionists. The remainder of the day was spent in visiting friends or driving in the suburbs. When the time arrived for departure of the train at 8 o'clock several hundred citizens and a number of republican clubs assembled with brass bands, and as the train pulled out the Pacific slopers were given a rousing farewell by their Denver friends, both republican and democrat. They expect to arrive in Chicago at 10.30 Saturday morning.

Murder Confessed.

SACRAMENTO, Cala., June 14.—Henry Meyers, implicated with John Olsen and Wm. Dagger in the murder of John Lowell, a wealthy ranch owner of Folsom, Cala., stated to-day that he became acquainted with Lowell two months before the murder. Lowell at the time spoke about selling his property, as neighbors were unfriendly to him, and as Meyers knew something about stock asked the latter to sell his horses for him. Subsequently, on March 22, Meyers, with Olsen and Dagger, went to Lowell's ranch to obtain employment cutting wood. On arriving at the ranch Olsen suggested that as they were all poor they should put Lowell out of the way and divide the large amount of money he had and what they could realize from the sale of stock, harness and valuables. After the plan was formed the four went out to look at the wood they were to cut. Lowell was in front of Myers when the latter fired the shot which killed him. The body was then buried under some loose dirt in the cellar. When the men left the ranch they took several horses with them, which they sold and divided the proceeds. Myers then fled south under an assumed name. Olsen going to Sutter county, while Dagger remained in Sacramento.

Death of a Noted Mare.

MIDDLETON, N. Y., June 14.—Green Mountain Maid, dam and grand dam of more fast trotters than any other mare that ever lived, died a day or two ago at the Stony Ford stock farm, this county. She was by Harry Clay, dam Shanghai Mary. She showed wonderful trotting powers as a filly, but proved so intractable in disposition as to be useless on the track. Seven of her foals sold for a total of over forty-six thousand dollars. Seven years ago, when 19 years old, Leland Stanford offered $10,000 for her. The Maid's most famous get is Electioneer, one of the greatest living sires of trotters, and the pride of the Palo Alto stables. It is said she never had a colt that could not beat 2.30.

A Smuggler Captured.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 14. Charles Labielle, an opium smuggler, was captured here Saturday. He has confessed that he has been employed by Ontario parties since January to forward goods to California. The gang first began shipping direct to California, but afterward through Oregon, and successively through Victoria, Winnipeg and Ontario. Labelle claims he was ignorant of the fact that he was forwarding smuggled goods and engaged in criminal business. He had already forwarded six consignments successfully.

Millie and Harry Garfield Married.

MENTOR, Ohio, June 14.—A large number of guests assembled this afternoon at the pleasant country home of Mrs. James A. Garfield, near Mentor, to witness the marriage of Harry Garfield and Miss Belle Mason, of Cleveland, and J. Stanley Brown, of Washington, D. C., and Miss Mary Garfield, which occurred this evening.

Telephones in St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, June 14.—The trouble between the city authorities and the Bell Telephone company has been temporarily compromised. At a meeting of the citizens' committee, Mayor Francis and other dignitaries, the telephone company submitted a proposition to replace all the telephones taken out and charge a rental of $50, complying with the ordinance until the validity of the ordinance is tested.

SEWERAGE BIDS.

The Bids for Constructing the Sewerage System Opened.

Names of the Contractors who Submitted Proposals.

Wide Diversity Between the Highest and Lowest Bid.

Sewerage Committee to Receive and Estimates this Morning.

For several days City Engineer H. I. Reid has been importuned with inquiries concerning the new sewerage system from a number of contractors who desired to submit bids for constructing it. No less than twenty-five contractors have been inspecting the plans, which had been carefully and accurately prepared.

The time allowed for the presentation of bids expired at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. When that hour arrived sixteen sealed bids had been handed to City Engineer Reid from the following parties:

J. W. Sullivan, Denver.
H. W. Williams, Kansas City.
J. P. Hughes, Fort Worth, Texas.
D. Mitchell, Pueblo.
Everson & Liddell, Lockport, N. Y.
J. H. Haney, Dallas, Texas.
J. J. Everson, Akron, O.
J. Bennett & Co., Pueblo.
The Bullen Bridge company, Leavenworth, Kas.
George Stone, Denver.
Paradice & Ratican, Denver.
F. Nicholson & Co., Pueblo.
W. C. Bradbury, Colorado Springs.
J. F. O'Connor & Co.
Meshane, Clough & Moore, Colorado Springs.
Joseph Williams, Denver.

The bids were then opened by the committee on sewerage, consisting of Aldermen Skinner, Lawton and Merrill, and City Engineer Reid and Consulting Engineer H. C. Lowrie of Denver. Most of the bidders were present and listened to the reading of the proposals.

Owing to the complex character of the work to be done, and the ground to be covered by the bids, the question as to which party had presented the lowest bid could only be ascertained after a considerable amount of figuring. All of the bids with the exception of that presented by the Bullen Bridge company, were accompanied by a certified check for $2,000. The bid of the above named corporation was therefore thrown out on account of this oversight.

As soon as the bids had all been opened and read Messrs. Reid and Lowrie went vigorously to work to determine which was the lowest. They did not complete their labors until after eleven o'clock last night. The amount of each bid will be given to the committee on sewerage this morning, and no public announcement of the result can be made until the committee have considered the figures presented by Messrs. Reid and Lowrie.

It can be stated, however, that there is a wide range in the amount of the bids, the highest being about $16,000 and the lowest barely covered the price of the material.

There were five or six bids which varied but little. Four of the contractors who submitted bids had their estimates prepared, or were assisted in their preparation by experienced civil engineers.

Mr. Lowrie stated that the bids covered the construction of the entire system with the exception of the flush tanks and iron covers. He expressed some surprise that there should be such a difference between the highest and lowest bid. His original estimate of the cost of the system was $16,000, but since the bids had been received he thought the cost would not exceed $10,000. He stated that the system could be constructed and in operation in about five months, and that work would begin upon it as soon as the material could be received. The sewerage committee will have a meeting this morning to consider the bids.

Held up by Tramps.

Last evening about eleven o'clock a man by the name of John Collins, who has been working at one of the railroad grading camps east of the city, was held up and robbed of about eight dollars near the water tank on the Denver & Rio Grande railroad. Collins had left the El Paso house with the intention of boarding a freight and going to Denver. He met two men near the tank and treated them to some beer. When he started to leave them one of the men threw his arms around him, and with the assistance of the other forced him to the ground and choked him while they went through his pockets. After the robbery they disappeared in the darkness. Collins immediately came up town and reported his loss.

A short time after the affair had occurred Officer Powell arrested a suspicious character on Huerfano street, whom Collins identified as the man who searched his pockets. Another man nearly answering the description given by Collins was found in a box car. Both men were taken to the city jail and searched, but only 80 cents was found between them. They will be given a hearing before the police magistrate this morning.

Logs Washed Away.

SUPERIOR, Wis., June 14. Several million feet of logs broke loose from booms above Cloquet yesterday and swept down to an island where several hundred people live. Two hotels, three saloons, four dwellings, the court house and jail and a store were carried away. Thirty or forty buildings are now completely surrounded by water, most of them abandoned. Lumber yards were flooded and the St. Paul and Duluth railway had to abandon its line to Northern Pacific Junction. The loss thus far is estimated at half a million dollars. No lives are lost yet.

Some of the opponents of Judge Gresham have used as an argument against his nomination that he is not sound on the tariff question. In Wall street in 1884, in the Blaine and Logan campaign, he stated his position as follows

In making our tariff laws and reducing our customs revenues home interests should not be neglected [Applause] Indeed, protection to manufacturers and laborers can and should be afforded by taxing only such imports as come into real competition ... No one disputes that the republican party is in favor of thus affording protection to our domestic industries [Cheers] Revenue laws should be enacted with reference to our real conditions and wants. D Taylor, of Ohio, with working for his own protection, he being a member of the National Iron Roofing association He also gave Reed, of Maine a going over for his remark made several days ago to the effect that it was not worth while to keep on lying on the tariff, and finally declared there was a criminal combination between republican leaders and men ...

[illegible] Frederick III., under [illegible] the beginning of his pub[illegible] prepared himself for this [illegible] social transformation of [illegible] as long wished to imbue [illegible] spirit of modern liberalism; [illegible], he has been stricken [illegible] ness which physicians [illegible] He needed an heir who [illegible] red, with the father's [illegible] to the father's political [illegible]. [illegible] to the progressive school [illegible] universities of Germany [illegible] from his earliest youth that he was de[illegible] voted to the fundamental principles of modern right. His travels in England [illegible] [illegible]

In this position [illegible] ligious May Laws [illegible] against the Roman pontiff [illegible] hated by a man who was a Lutheran by early education and rationalist in thought, but also against the German Catholic and Ultramontane party, the enemy of all progress and the patron of all reactions. Such is the man to whom Frederick III. has entrusted the political education of Prince William.

The principal occupation of all thought*ful minds at the present hour* is to fore cast the policy of the emperor [illegible] point opinions differ very much. There are many who look upon him as a revolutionary philosopher, fully capable of renovating German society from top to bottom. Some, on the other hand, believe that he is simply an instrument in the hands of Bismarck, condemned by inevitable laws to submit to the policy of the chancellor, destined undoubtedly, by his robust and vigorous constitution, to survive the emperor stricken with cancer and slowly dying. We cannot expect from a sovereign, hampered by traditions and enormous responsibilities, the freedom of action which would characterize an ordinary public man, governed only by his own mind and will. In certain lofty and elevated positions, political questions and men should be judged in a very different way from what they are in the obscure and deep valley where the common herd of mankind move and dwell.

Frederick III., therefore, if time and fate permit, will be to the German empire exactly what Leo XIII. has been to the Catholic church—an extremely prudent renovator, but, after all, a renovator. The two most important documents and solutions with which the emperor has had to do—his manifesto to his people and the rescript addressed to the chancellor—are in perfect harmony with all the acts of his life, and show in some sort what his future history will be.

Changes cannot be fairly appreciated until they are subjected to the test of comparison. If we compare the declarations that have marshalled in the reign of Frederick III. with those that preceded the reign of William I., we remark at first sight the immense and transcendental difference between them; so great is it that they seem diametrical opposites.

The idea of a great sovereign nation, governing with the emperor, truly associated with the monarch by common laws and rights, is revealed in every paragraph of Frederick's state papers and marks a progressive movement, in strong contrast with the old harping about imperial stability and immutability. This aspect of the new policy is strikingly brought out in the letter addressed by Frederick III. to his prime minister.

Whoever ignores the hidden meaning embodied in this document does not fully appreciate the virtue and force inherent in a character like that of Frederick III. Monarchs in such an exalted position who have inherited, through a long line of ancestors, both government and power in such a vast country as Germany and among men proud like the Germans, cannot think, much less act, with the independence of those who have shaped their own fortunes, who have risen by their own eloquence, by their good star or by their merits, to high places in public favor. Frederick is an emperor, not a tribune, and yet, nevertheless, in his letters and in his recent proclamations, are found ideas and sentences stamped with the sentiments of a tribune.

Four principal features characterize the reign of Frederick's father and the policy of the chancellor. They are the anti-Catholic and anti-Semetic movement, state socialism, Cæsarism, and militarism. Now, concerning these four questions, Frederick III. shows scruples and makes objections with the prudence that behooves a man in his high and delicate position. He tells the author of the May laws, the man who unhesitatingly protected the Old Catholics while he attempted to convert the Orthodox Catholics of Germany into a semi-Protestant church, he tells the disciples of ex-Court Preacher Stoecker, at the head of the anti-Semetic movement, he tells the advocates of a scientific and religious socialism supported by the forces and powers of the state—Frederick tells them all that he far prefers to all these tyrannical and arbitrary sophisms the liberties and rights of our human conscience.

He faces that most eminent statesman who has devoted his whole political life while holding the post of chancellor to the doctrines of state socialism, and reminds him that he cannot assent to the cabalistic formulas of this social alchemy and that he believes to be indispensable a return to the observance and accomplishment of all the great principles of political economy. He [illegible] fare to those who have always shown more regard for personal power than for the constitution identifying and confusing it with their notion of the state, that it is absolutely necessary to accept the co-operation of the nation and to respect its laws, because above all other considerations stand the rights of the German nation.

He admits that wicked military glory does not tempt nor seduce him, and dares to make this frank confession in that veritable camp called Germany, kept on such an offensive and defensive footing that one might think Europe still lived in times of universal warfare, in that [illegible] are those of [illegible] that light and air are the elements of [illegible] bayonets, and where everything is crowned with the [illegible] [illegible] the manifestation of the immortal spirit [illegible] Again in 1881, Frederick III., then crown prince, read another speech recommending the study of the grand authors of the last century, [illegible] which had broken asunder the chains of our mental servitude. Another time, in 1883, conversing with the students of Koenigsberg, he told them that they ought to try and attain to the pinnacle and maturity of their powers by being progressive and humanitarian ideas. Standing before the statue of the immortal Minister Stein, he declared as any one of us might have done, that nations acquire their dignity through liberty, and that they develop and grow almost through freedom alone. At an old solemnity, in honor of Luther, Frederick spoke just as I might speak, in favor of liberty of conscience and free thought. And in one of the radical Masonic lodges, he once asked heaven to give light and warmth to the souls of the good, in their efforts to advance contemporary nations.

After all this, it is not foolhardy on my part to assert that the policy of the Crown Prince Frederick, raised to the rank of German Cæsar, is as different from the policy pursued by William I., as were, in yonder servile Russia, the acts of humane Alexander, benefactor of the serfs, from the stern, absolutist conduct of Nicholas; as different as were the resolute and warlike William I. and his predecessor and brother, the perplexed and romantic Frederick William IV. Human progress requires that it should be thus and against this onward march the opposition of the whole world would be powerless.

EMILIO CASTELAR.

Barry and Fay.

The Hamilton (Canada) Spectator in speaking of Barry and Fay who appear at the opera house this evening said:

"Those two inimitable Irish comedians, Hugh Fay and Wm. Barry, appeared at the Grand last night, in their new play, "McKenna's Flirtation." The two principal figures kept the audience in shrieks of laughter that at times developed into perfect paroxysms. In the last act there is a mortal combat with broadswords by moonlight on the sea beach, which deserves a niche among the very funniest things that have been seen on that stage. In Michael Ryan and Timothy McKenna, Fay and Barry reproduce types of the tall, raw-boned and argumentative Irishman and the short, [illegible] and assertive Irishman, which are at once recognized and the truth with which they reproduce the peculiarities of the original. The supporting company is, on the whole, good. The leading soubrette, Miss Jennie Williams, is a very pretty young lady. The singing and dancing of the four Lollas was a pleasing feature of the performance, the more so, as it enabled the people to draw breath between the laughter that prevailed while Barry and Fay were on deck. The humor of the two comedians made up for all deficiencies of the author, and the audience must have been thankful that the play was no funnier, otherwise serious consequences might have occurred through individuals doing more laughing to the square inch than nature intended them to do.

Base Ball To-day.

The Denver team of the Western league which will play here to-day is the strongest team of professionals in the league. They are the leaders in the race for the championship, and will give an exhibition of ball-playing which will be well worth seeing.

The Colorado Springs team is undoubtedly the strongest non-professional team in the state, and the result of the meeting between these two teams has been the principal topic of conversation amongst the sport-loving public for the past week. The home team is not expected to thrash the professionals or even to beat them at all. If the team will play good ball and hold the Denvers down they will do all they are expected to. Of course there are many enthusiasts who hope that the home team will win; some of them are willing to back these opinions at odds of two to one. The management ought to have a good support to-day. Every effort has been made to get a good team here and to give good ball, and it deserves hearty encouragement. With its canvas cover, and facing north, the grand stand is comfortable and cool even when it is stifling hot down town. The management would like to add several new and strong players to the team, but no more expense can be incurred until the public turns out in force and shows its appreciation. The game will be called to-day promptly at 3 o'clock, and there will be the largest attendance of the season if the advance sale of seats augurs anything. The majority of reserved seats sold yesterday were bought by ladies, which promises well for an interesting game, as their presence always stimulates the players to play good ball. Bader, the fleet-footed fielder of the Denvers, has a reputation of successfully stealing bases on all the catchers in the Western league, and McMahon and Lynch have made up their minds to break up his reputation.

The following is a list of the players.

Colorado Springs		Denver
Ferguson	pitcher	Zeigler
W. J. McMahon	catcher	Callender
Fitzgerald	1st base	McNabb
Lynch	2nd base	McAndrews
Smith	3rd base	Gennings

The Good Templars will hold an ice cream and strawberry festival at the city hall to-morrow evening.

The police magistrate fined two men for leaving their horses unhitched in the business portion of the city yesterday.

There will be a regular meeting of the board of trade at the city hall at a quarter past seven o'clock this evening. A full attendance is requested.

Quite a serious break occurred in the water main west of Colorado City on Wednesday night, but Superintendent Frost had it quickly repaired yesterday morning.

Mr. Frank P. Davis, an old ball player of Boston, who is in the city for his health, will umpire to-day's game between the Colorado Springs and Denver League clubs.

Mr. McShane is working a large force of men and teams on the Manitou road between this city and Colorado City. He expects to have the work on the road completed in a few days.

The Midland officials are thinking of putting on a night train between this city and Manitou, also of running a night train to Cascade and Green Mountain Falls on moonlight nights.

The excursion of the Knights of Pythias to Denver to-day to witness the opening Gilmore concert this evening will leave the Santa Fe depot promptly at 8 o'clock. Fare for the round trip $2.25.

From present appearances the annual meeting of the Colorado State Medical association which will be held in this city on the 19th inst. will be quite largely attended. A cordial invitation has been extended to visiting physicians to witness the proceedings.

To-morrow the Colorado Springs base ball team will play the Prides of Denver, who will have for players about the same men that have been here in previous teams, including Castone, Willoughby, Masconi, etc. In this game the Colorado Springs club will add another neat victory to its list.

Dr. Hannibal Griffin, the step-father of the celebrated actress Mary Anderson, who is at present residing in London, is thinking very seriously of removing to Colorado Springs and making this city his future home. Dr. Griffin is the owner of a large ranch near Bijou Basin which contains between 4,000 and 5,000 acres.

At a meeting of the directors of the Colorado Springs and Manitou Street Railway company, held on Wednesday afternoon, the resignation of Mr. Irving Howbert as president was accepted, and Mr. B. F. Crowell was elected to the position. Mr. Howbert resigned on account of his intended absence from the city.

The Exhibition company has decided to give two games of base ball with the Five Points of Denver on July 4th, one at 10 a. m. and the other at 3 p. m., and to postpone the athletic sports until fall. This was done at the suggestion of a number of base ball patrons, and is thought to be more desirable than the previous arrangement.

The following is a list of the bills allowed by the county commissioners at their meeting on Wednesday:

In the district court yesterday the trial of the condemnation suit of the town of Manitou against L. A. Schamp was begun. Mr. Schamp who owns a ranch near the head of the Manitou water works system claims that his property has been damaged thereby. The suit has been instituted to determine the amount of damages, if any, to which Mr. Schamp is entitled. A jury consisting of J. J. Corum, I. G. Sprague, E. T. Marsh, E. S. Bumstead, E. C. Bartlett and J. W. Stillman was empaneled to try the case. This morning the jury will visit the ranch, and the case will be continued to-morrow morning.

A young man arrived from Denver on the Salt Lake express on the Denver & Rio Grande railroad yesterday morning, entered the omnibus and directed the driver to take him to the Santa Fe depot. Being unable to find a train there, he was driven back to the Denver & Rio Grande depot, where he expected to take another train, but on arriving there he learned that there would not be a train for several hours. He told the driver of the omnibus that he did not want to go to a hotel, and did not want to come up town. He finally went to sleep in the omnibus at the barn, considerably under the influence of liquor. The driver of the 'bus concluded that the man was a suspicious character and notified the police. He was arrested and when he was searched about $8.00 was found in his pockets. Yesterday morning he told City Marshal Haus that his name was Frank Tappan, and that he was the son of Edward Tappan, who killed a man at the Palace theatre in Denver about ten days ago. The city marshal telephoned the authorities at Denver to ascertain if Tappan was wanted there. They replied that they did not want him, and after paying a small fine for drunkenness he was released from custody. Yesterday afternoon the city marshal received a telegram from the officers at Denver to hold Tappan, as he had stolen $[illegible] from a saloon. A search for the young man resulted in his being found in a street car on his way to Colorado City. He was at once re-arrested and another search of his person brought to light $17, which he had concealed in a hidden pocket. Officer Watson arrived from Denver on the Missouri Pacific express yesterday afternoon and took Tappan back with him on the Salt Lake express last evening.

Insurance Carefully Written in First-Class Companies Only.

Losses Promptly and Satisfactorily Adjusted.

STRANGERS, and others not posted in our Real Estate Market, often ask the question, "Where can I best invest my money to be sure of Quick and Profitable returns?"

1st. I would say select a locality where you have the [illegible] SUNSHINE, the finest view of our GRAND MOUNTAIN SCENERY, etc.

2nd. See that you locate where you can get the best WATER ADVANTAGES that our city affords. A home without water in this country is a desert, and when I say "BEST WATER ADVANTAGES" I mean not only for irrigating purposes, which is very important, but also for all DOMESTIC PURPOSES. Our water supply at present is limited, and unless greatly increased the time is near at hand, if not already here, when every drop will be needed inside the city limits.

3rd. Do not locate where lots are too low priced. Low priced LOTS bring low priced HOUSES, and a PALACE surrounded by shanties will never sell for half its value. Better economize in other ways and secure a lot that will increase in value.

4th. Dont wait until the "Rock Island" comes in and then pay 25 per cent more than present rates.

5th. "Lastly" call and see us and we will convince you that "BOULDER HEIGHTS" possesses all the above advantages.
